

Enterprise Content Services

Increase productivity, improve accuracy, and deliver a better product by gaining access to critical information within the context of the business process it supports.

Extended ECM injects valuable content insights when and where they are needed most - alongside business processes.

Your organization needs to manage unstructured data from multiple applications.

We uniquely understand the technical challenges of these cross-application business scenarios.

Improve the user journey for your employees, customers, and vendors through seamlessly integrated document solutions.

IDC predicts the world's data will grow to 175 zettabytes in 2025. This means that organizations need new and innovative ways to identify, contextualize and harness the value of their data and information. How your organization connects and uses information within the context of your lead systems is what will set your organization ahead of its competition.

Your Enterprise Content Services Partner

For over 20 years, Qellus has used our passion and experience to optimize processes and shed light on content that was previously hidden to them. Our consultants are content management veterans, dedicating their careers to helping clients excel. We provide customers worldwide with the expertise to turn complex problems into simple yet flexible solutions for each unique set of needs.

Qellus provides your organization with an expert team of systems integrators that create easy to deploy and scalable solutions; speeding up the delivery of your projects, saving your organization costs, and ultimately making your customers happier.

Working together, we achieve these results through a functional process view. We ensure that your OpenText Extended ECM platform is tightly integrated with your company's enterprise data and core applications.

The expertise you need to build integrations that accelerate time-to-value

360° functional and process view

Unlike other consultancies that focus on the technology, Qellus takes a functional and process view first through a 360-degree view of your content. Consistency between process, data, and related documents ensure that your stakeholders are working with the most updated content.

Ensure access to your information

Access to your organizational knowledge improves service and product quality. Our experts will optimize your data and processes to make happier employees and customers.

Faster and wiser decisions with a single version of the truth

Intelligent and connected information is what provides a competitive advantage. We'll make sure your unstructured content is linked to its digital twin and presented in the context of structured business processes for all to consume.

Better and faster delivery of products and services

Together, we'll optimize the supply chain better, develop successful products, maximize asset performance, and best engage with your customers by injecting more information when and where it is needed.

Reduce compliance risks and optimize system performance

We'll work together to avoid redundant process silos and eliminate inconsistencies between data and content by digitizing paper documents and automating manual tasks.
